CCOM KICKS OFF NEW SPEAKER SERIES

Montauk, New York – Concerned Citizens of Montauk (CCOM) today announced the kickoff of a new “CCOM Speaker Series.” The series is part of an ongoing CCOM outreach effort to engage with and educate the community about the environmental challenges that Montauk is facing.

The “CCOM Speaker Series” will feature prominent, notable environmental scientists, policy experts, and practitioners who are at the forefront of addressing a wide range of environmental topics.

Following are details about the first two presentations in the series:

WHAT: Toxin Free Landscapes: Edwina Von Gal, Perfect Earth Project
WHEN: Saturday, June 23, 2018 at 12:30pm
WHERE: Montauk Library, 871 Montauk Highway, Montauk NY 11954

WHAT: Energy Conservation: Gordian Raacke, Renewable Energy Long Island
WHEN: Tuesday, July 17, 2018 at 5:30pm
WHERE: Fort Pond House, 128 Second House Road, Montauk, NY 11954

Laura Tooman, CCOM President explained, “We are thrilled to kick off our new speaker series with two incredibly talented and knowledgeable presenters. It is our hope that through this new program we will continue to educate our neighbors and engage the community in CCOM’s efforts to protect the environment and Keep Montauk Montauk.”
