CCOM MONTHLY WEBINAR SERIES – JANUARY 2021

WHAT: RENEWABLE ENERGY AND THE SOUTH FORK WIND FARM

WHEN: January 14, 2021 4pm-5pm

WHO: Laura Tooman – CCOM President / Gordian Raacke – Renewable Energy LI Executive Director / Julie Tighe – New York League of Conservation Voters President

MORE INFO: www.PreserveMontauk.org/Events to register and join the Zoom virtual meeting

CCOM continues to advocate for advancing efforts to reduce our region’s reliance on fossil fuels, applauding the Town of East Hampton’s ambitious sustainable energy goal and Climate Action Plan, which cannot be achieved without offshore wind energy. The South Fork Wind Farm – sited 35 miles off Montauk and expected to deliver electric power to 70,000 homes – is currently undergoing a comprehensive environmental and legal approval process.

We invite you to attend our “Renewable Energy and the South Fork Wind Farm” webinar on Thursday, January 14th from 4-5pm to hear from leading experts in a conversation highlighting local and historical context and our collective role in helping achieve New York State’s renewable energy goals.

In September 2020, CCOM launched a new Monthly Webinar Series featuring a different topic and speaker for each meeting. These 1-hour free online events are a great way for CCOM staff and partner organization to engage with community members on key environmental issues related to CCOM’s work. The Monthly Webinar Series will be a mainstay event through 2021, and upcoming topics and recordings of previous meetings can be found at: www.preservemontauk.org/publications/webinars
