Dear Congressman LaLota,

As your constituent, I strongly OPPOSE all four proposed rules within the 2025 Proposed Rules to Revise Endangered Species Act Regulations, including the following docket numbers:

FWS–HQ–ES–2025–0039 (Section 4)

FWS–HQ–ES–2025–0044 (Section 7)

FWS–HQ–ES–2025–0029 (Section 4(d))

FWS–HQ–ES–2025–0048 (Section 4(b)(2))

I am opposing because the ESA has been effective and popular for over 50 years. Over decades of polling, the ESA has consistent bipartisan support with 84% of Americans in support of it. More than 99% of all species listed on the ESA have been saved from extinction or are recovering. Why are we trying to change a good thing? Not only has it been successful in saving species, but it has had enormous benefits to the public. Decision makers cannot overlook how coastal wetlands have allowed our children to swim in unpolluted lakes, or protected us from the worst of flash floods. They cannot overlook how we depend on pollinators for our lifeline—food; fruits, vegetables, nuts, coffee, cocoa, and vanilla all depend on pollinators like honey bees for pollination. If these species and habits are no longer protected, what will happen to us?

My life, your life, future generations—they all depend on the survival and health of the organisms around us.

You, Congressman LaLota, can ensure that we are all protected.

I urge you to uphold the full, current protections of the ESA, and reject the 2025 Proposed Rules to Revise Endangered Species Act Regulations.
